

SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 10, 1909.

WITH only one important change made since it was first reported, the Cannon-Payne tariff bill passed the House last night. The vote was 217 to 161. The net result of all the efforts by democrats and independent republicans to improve the measure is to be found in the removal of all duty on oil and products of oil. All the other provisions framed by the ways and means committee were adopted. Hides remain on the free list, and the lumber duty has been reduced one half. Over these two schedules and the oil schedule all the fighting has centered, and the results obtained mark the chief improvement in the measure over the existing law. The bill as a whole revises the tariff upward.

It is said that the president has been informed by Senator Aldrich that there would be no occasion for his vetoing the tariff bill when the Senate got through with it, as the Senate substitute provided for reductions from the Dingley bill on every item, so that it could be regarded as a necessity, so rearranged the classification that necessities and luxuries could easily be distinguished, and at the same time provided for sufficient revenue to meet the expenses of the government without the inclusion of any special form of taxation. If this is done then indeed will the Payne bill be so altered that its author will not recognize it.

Much has been heard about revising the tariff by its friends. Now there is being given an elegant illustration of it. Protect on revised by protectionists means more protection. The republicans party bankrupted the country in 1896, when it promised reciprocity before election, and killed all the McKinley treaties after the election. It promised revision last year, which was universally understood to mean a reduction. The average rates of the Payne bill as passed by the House yesterday are a little higher than the average Dingley rates.

PRESIDENT ELLIOT, of Harvard, in the last annual report which he will make to the overseers of Harvard, again condemns football, calling it a demoralizing spectacle, and insisting that the good football players have little vitality left for intellectual labor during the season. He regards it as unfit for college uses and adds that it greatly increases the betting evil. He hopes that this "barbarous stage" of American opinion on this subject will pass away, but it is feared that his are vain hopes.

THE Payne tariff bill is the specific reason given by a large real estate owner of Holyoke, Mass., for raising rents beginning May 1st. This will be another bad blow to those who had hoped that the new tariff bill would reduce the cost of living, but the Holyoke man is a shrewd fellow and holds that if prices of the necessities of life are to be advanced house rents should go along with them.

WHEN the vote was taken in the House yesterday on the motion to place lumber on the free list, Messrs. Glass, Lamb, Lusk, Maynard and Saunders, of Virginia, all elected as democrats and with strong democratic constituencies voted against that measure. Again the question, What constitutes a democrat?

ALL democratic voters should bear in mind that poll taxes should be paid on or before May 1st, in order that they may be able to participate either in the primary election for the nomination of state officers, or in the general election next November.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]
Washington, April 10.
Just five months from today the House ways and means committee began its preparation of the tariff bill which was passed by the House last night. The House will now take a rest while the Senate tears to pieces all the work it has accomplished. It is generally conceded that the Senate will make a great many changes in the House bill and that the measure which finally passes the Senate will be much more nearly like the bill which will become law. It is also the frankly expressed opinion that the House bill is a failure as far as its capacity to produce sufficient revenue to meet the needs of the government is concerned. It will remain for the Senate not only to meet this necessity but to so charge money of the schedules as to meet the popular demand and to prevent positive injury to certain industries. There will be a special meeting of the full committee on finance Monday. At this the democratic members will have their first sight of the measure which has been prepared by their republican colleagues. An important decision reached late last night was to accept the provision which will allow 300,000 tons of Philippine sugar to come in free. This has been strenuously objected to by a number of the best sugar producers of the west and it will not be passed without a contest. The reciprocity clause on bituminous coal, by which it was expected that Canadian coal would be admitted free, is to be stricken out of the bill. Steel rails are to be taxed at about $5 per ton. The present rate is $7.84. It is practically settled that iron ore is to be taxed 20 cents instead of being admitted free as proposed in the Payne bill. Hides will be taken from the free list of fifteen cents. Lumber will be left just about as the House passed it. Wool and Wool tops will be reported, be restored to the existing Dingley rates. Art, whether ancient or modern, is to be put on the free list.

Speaker Cannon and Representative Payne, chairman of the House committee on ways and means, were early morning callers at the White House today. The speaker was not overly enthusiastic when he left the president's office, and when he was asked if the president had congratulated him, he replied: "Oh I guess like all other good republicans he is gratified that the bill has got as far as it has. I think we got through in very good time."

Oscar W. Lawler, assistant attorney general in charge of the legal work of the Department of the Interior, has received a number of letters threatening death, since he has been in his office here. The letters come from Mexicans and persons who were arrested and tried in Los Angeles for violation of the neutrality laws during the much-talked-of Mexican revolution a year ago.

Brief funeral services over the body of former Secretary of the Interior Ethan Allen Hitchcock were held at the family residence in this city at 2 o'clock this afternoon, in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives. President Taft attended. Later the remains were sent to St. Louis.

Because of lack of subscriptions it is probable, according to dispatches received at the State Department today, that the projected scheme of the Japanese of Yokohama to erect a monument to Commodore Perry will not materialize. President Taft promised Representative Olmsted, of Pennsylvania, today, that he would attend the unveiling exercises at the Fort Mifflin Monument, near Petersburg, Va. The date for the unveiling will be left to the president's convenience.

Members of the board of trustees and the peace committee of the Roosevelt foundation for the promotion of industrial peace are meeting today to outline plans for a permanent organization and for the adoption of by laws that will enable the society to accomplish what it has set out to do.

Miss G. H. Armstrong has been appointed postmaster at Waterloo, Col. per county.

Forty-one boys, sons of officers of the U. S. Army, were designated by President Taft today to take the competitive examinations to fill vacancies which will occur among the cadets at West Point during the coming year.

John B. Williams, of Soranton, Pa., clerk of the House of Representatives, died today of bright's disease, at the Pennsylvania Club, where he resided.

MRS. SAMPSON FREE.

The jury which tried Mrs. Georgia Allyn Sampson on the charge that she murdered her husband, Harry Sampson, brought in a verdict of not guilty at 10:10 in Lyons N. Y., last night.

Judge Rich completed his charge to the jury at 6:30 p. m., but he did not immediately send the jury to their room to deliberate on a verdict. Instead he directed that the men be first given their supper, and it was so arranged.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Sampson was at last appearances on the verge of a breakdown from the strain to which she has been subjected since the beginning on Monday last of the trial. She did not sleep at all Thursday night, and yesterday morning pleaded with her attorneys for the privilege of going on the stand and explaining everything. Her advisers and friends had difficulty in calming her.

When she entered the court-room yesterday the young prisoner was still looking pale and haggard.

The United States has exported over $17,000,000 worth of condensed milk during the last decade. The growth of this industry has been very rapid. More than two millions dollars worth of condensed milk was exported in 1908. Most of the milk goes to the oriental and tropical countries, Japan and Cuba being two of the best purchasers.

James A. Patten reached his office in Chicago yesterday just in time to respond to a telephone call from a country miller, who wanted to buy a round lot of cash wheat. Before leaving the phone booth he personally sold 5,000 bushels of No. 2 red wheat at $1.38, free on board cars there, which is the highest price of the year yet recorded for this grade of wheat.

Major Morrow, engineer officer of the District of Columbia, to whom has been assigned the duty of restoring the name of J. F. Brown Davis to the tablet on Cabin John bridge, has made a contract for the execution of the work with J. B. Shelton and Co., of Washington, at their bid price of $147.75. That was the lowest of nine bids received, ranging from that figure to $1,250. Under their bid the contractors are allowed until May 15 to complete the work. To restore the name of Mr. Davis it will be necessary to cut out the names of Presidents Pierce and Lincoln and Secretary Simon Cameron and then put their all back on the same level.

The Senate devoted the entire session, having for more than five hours, yesterday to consideration of the bill providing for the taking of the thirtieth and subsequent decennial censuses. Senator Bailey characterized the whole civil service scheme of appointments as the "monumental example of modern hypocrisy and fraud." He told the republican senators that, after having voted to exempt the census free from civil service rules, they had meekly accepted the chastisement of President Roosevelt's veto, and were falling over each other in an effort to defend the civil service. "He characterized you senators as practical politicians, seeking, patronage, and you have justified that designation by meekly passing under this yoke," said Senator Bailey.

But for the thoughtfulness of five small negro girls, train No. 20 of the Southern Railway would have been wrecked as it was entering Lynchburg yesterday. They found the track covered with debris which had slipped from the embankment, and they flagged the train. The train was late and would have certainly gone over a high bank into the canal if it had not been stopped.

Miss Cloud and Valentine Hardy, who also figured in the murder trial, were married a week ago at Hagerstown, Md., but the wedding was kept a secret until after the case against the girl's father had been tried. It was largely upon Miss Cloud's testimony that her father was acquitted. Cloud and his family have sold their property in Frederick and will move to Martinsburg, W. Va.

Philadelphia, April 10.—Three bodies were found floating in the river here today. One, that of a well-dressed woman, was picked up in the Delaware, the other two, the remains of men of middle age, on the Schuylkill. ### DOES YOUR SCALP ITCH?

Are Your Hairs Dropping One by One?
If your scalp itches you are a dandruff sufferer from dandruff. The dandruff germ is digging up your scalp in little scales, called dandruff, and sapping the life of the hair bulb. No hair preparation that is a mere hair stimulant and tonic will cure dandruff because it won't kill the germ that causes the trouble. Newbro's Herpicide is the latest scientific discovery and it will kill the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect. Kill the germ and you will have no more dandruff, falling hair or baldness.

Crashed into an Open Switch.
Columbia, S. C., April 10.—Eight persons were badly hurt today when the Seaboard Air Line's New York and Florida limited crashed through an open switch at Hicks Station, 42 miles south of Columbia. It is alleged by the officials of the road that the wreck was caused by unknown parties tampering with the switch, and detectives at work on the case declared that robbery of the passengers was the motive. The switch lock had been broken and a wad of newspapers had been wedged in the switch work to ensure the wreck. The engine, baggage car, and smoker were left on the tracks, but the Pullmans were overturned. All traffic on the Seaboard is blocked and the road is using the tracks of the Southern Railway to get around the wreck.

Seven Men Killed.
Johnstown, Pa., April 10.—Seven men lost their lives and three are injured, one probably fatally, as the result of an overcharge of dynamite at No. 37 mine of the Bernard-White company, at Berwind near here. It is estimated that between 150 and 200 sticks of dynamite had been placed in the six holes that had been bored. After lighting the fuses, the men sought what they considered was a safe distance, about 500 feet away, but the explosion dashed them. Before they could recover they were overcome by the deadly fumes.

TARIFF BILL PASSED.
After three weeks of consideration the Payne tariff bill was passed by the House of Representatives last night by a vote of 217 to 161. One republican, Austin (Tenn.) voted against the measure and four democrats, all from Louisiana, Messrs. Broussard, Estopinal, Pajot and Wickliffe, voted for it. An attempt by Mr. Champ Clark, the minority leader, to recommit the bill with instructions signally failed, the vote being 162 for to 218 against the motion.

The 1 per cent. duty on oil was stricken out and oil was placed on the free list; the tax on lumber was retained; barley is taxed, but tea and coffee are placed on the free list.

Several times during the session the House was in an uproar and Speaker Cannon called for assistance in securing order.

The galleries were crowded during the day and Mrs. Taft was one of the spectators.

Sixty-first Congress.

Washington, April 10.

SENATE.
Such rapid work was done by the enrolling clerks of the House that the tariff bill, which was only passed by that body at 8:15 last night, was ready for presentation to the Senate today. At noon when the Senate met, Mr. Browning, the clerk of the House, was in waiting and immediately after prayer Vice President Sherman recognized him as the bearer of a message from the House. As soon as it was officially disclosed that it was the tariff bill that he had brought over, Senator Aldrich at once made the motion that it should be referred to the finance committee, which was done. Thus the new tariff bill is now officially in the custody of the Senate.

When the census bill was taken up for further consideration, a fight developed over the old question as to whether the employees of the census office should be selected through civil service examination or not. Senator Bailey declared that among the many eminent and learned members of the Senate he doubted whether there was as many as 10 men who would be able to successfully pass a civil service examination. Senator Lodge, in replying, said that the present civil service system was not ideal, but it was far better than the old spoils system. He considered that senators had something more important to do than the distribution of patronage.

HOUSE.
The House was not in session today.

M. P. CONFERENCE.
An interesting discussion on the question of the enlargement of delegates to the Maryland Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church was brought about at an afternoon session of the conference in Baltimore, yesterday, by the introduction of a resolution to appropriate the sum of $800 to cover the expenses of the conference, the balance to be given to the church in which the sessions are held. The proposition after a lengthy debate, was defeated.

It was decided by vote that the annual sessions shall begin on the first Wednesday in April of each year, except when Easter Sunday occurs during that week, when the conference will meet a week later.

The committee on the president's report filed a statement recommending that the annual assessment for the superannuates be increased to $5,000, 10 per cent. of which is to be invested for endowments.

The matter will be taken up again today.

Dr. E. L. Watson, one of the delegates of the Methodist Episcopal Church, made an address to the conference in which he strongly advocated the union of the various branches of Methodism.

The committee of itinerancy and orders in its report recommended the reception on its list of Edward L. Beachamp, Joshua R. Horney, Marion E. Hungerford, John R. Wright, Arthur J. Torrey, Alvin R. Dupuy and J. E. Massey.

Rev. J. R. Gaar, of the Louisiana Conference, was recommended for admission to the Maryland Conference. George E. Byrnes was passed to the class of the second year. E. L. Bance, H. P. Jester and P. L. Rice were passed to the class of the third year while W. W. Johnson and J. E. Massey remained in the second and third year respectively.

The ordination of H. B. Jester, J. E. Massey and P. L. Rice and W. W. Johnson was also recommended.

PURSUED BY BLACK HAND.
Vincenzo Schiano De Pepe, a wealthy resident of New York, who reached quarantine on the steamship Roma, from Italy, last night, with his bride, said that his first business upon landing would be to appeal to the New York police for protection against Black Hand enemies. Members of this organization are seeking his life, he says, because he married his boyhood sweetheart, whom an influential member of the Black Hand in the country coveted.

De Pepe sailed for Italy some months ago to seek and wed the woman who he knew and loved many years ago, before he came to America. When he reached Italy that he would probably see her again, he said, he determined, however, and he said, to become his wife. He said he received letters indicating that his success had aroused the enmity of a powerful secret organization, of which his defeated rival was supposedly a leader.

Before his departure he received more letters threatening his life and informing him that the hostility of the Black Hand would follow him to America. He went on board the Roma guarded by a dozen Italian policemen.

After leaving port seven stowaways were found aboard the Roma, and one of them was identified, De Pepe says, as a cousin of his deceased rival. This man, according to the ship's officers, was bravely armed.

The steamer Admiral, with the express aboard, started through the Suez canal this morning.
